

After you have watched the video and have the notes, please follow the instructions below:

1. Discuss the following: Was WWII was a worthy conflict?
 - a. Share your thoughts with your classmates for a few minutes. Write down your ideas here:
 - idea #1:
 - idea #2:

2. Students will then pick up the handout from Zinn (p. 408 - 411). Students need to read and use the following purpose for reading:

To what extent was WWII a “good war”?

Students are expected to read and annotate the reading in preparation for a Socratic Seminar on the question.

3. You need to come up with an answer to the question: To what extent was WWII a “good war”? All students need to be prepared to speak during the seminar. Here is the rubric.

4. Use your own ideas and the text to come up with evidence to support your answer(s) to the question.

5. You will have time in class Wednesday to work with Mr. Weisse before we have the Socratic Seminar.
